ABOUT THE ARTIST

Sarah Zak celebrating Natural Beauty Through Her Lens. Sometimes imperfect is the perfect. Sarah Bleszynski's aka Sarah Zak's work represents exactly that. With refreshing honesty, she captures women through her lens, offering a genuine pictorial that celebrates their natural essence. In a world saturated with artificial posing and photoshopped bodies, Sarah's photographs stand out as a testament to the allure of authenticity.

Based in Berlin and Mexico City, Sarah is not only a talented photographer but also a skilled hair and makeup artist. Surrounded by attractive women in her daily life, she felt a strong desire to channel her creativity beyond the confines of commissioned work. It was then that she decided to embark on her photographic journey, armed with an analogue camera. And "Sarah likes pretty girls" was born.

Driven by her passion for capturing beauty in its unadulterated form, Sarah approached the women in her life—agency models, as well as close and long-term friends—with a simple question: "Can I photograph you?" Strikingly, they all felt at ease in front of her camera, allowing her to capture their genuine selves. These moments of vulnerability and authenticity became the core of Sarah's work, weaving together a captivating visual narrative.

With the project Sarah likes pretty girls she already published two editions, Berlin & Mexico city and her goal is to work on a publication that will showcase her Series captured in the worlds major cities, next stop Japan.
